Cook and Son Take the Lead in Scavenger Hunt

Father-Son Duo Submits Fourteen Photos Totaling 67 Points

By Alan Schuster
Jul 23, 2010

Before the season began, Todd cook composed a list of his 20 goals for the 2010 season. Among the items on the list was winning the myGameBalls.com Photo Scavenger Hunt. After returning from a 7 game road trip in California and uploading a variety of cool and/or wacky photos, Todd and his son Tim are well on their way.

Tim Cook gives the thumbs up while wearing his homemade myGameBalls.com headband at Camden Yards.

In fact, Cook and Son's scavenger hunt photo collection now includes 14 photos out of a possible 20 and totals 67 points out of a possible 100. The Cooks have now taken a huge lead in the standings, unseating the previous leader Avi M.

Here's the complete list of Todd and Tim's point-worthy photos so far:

- Eating a Funnel Cake (2 Points)
- Shaking hands with TV Reporter and Hall of Famer Jim Palmer (6 Points)
- Posing with myGameBalls.com Top 10 Ballhawk Zack Hample (6 Points)
- Posing with 2010 MLB All-Star Jared Weaver (7 Points)
- Posing with umpire Joe West (4 Points)
- Fist Bumping Joel Piniero (5 Points)
- Posing with Phillies' Ballgirls (3 Points)
