

Home
Scoreboard
Schedule
Leaders
Search Data
View Stats
Members
News
Interactive
Site Info

Member:

Username

FLV
Player

Last Updated: Aug 23, 2011
 License: Free
 OS: Windows 7/Vista/2003/XP/2000/NT
 Requirements: No special requirements

Cook and Sons Take Huge Lead in Scavenger Hunt

Seeking Back-to-Back Championships, Philadelphia Bloggers Submit 13 Photos Totaling 52 Points

By Alan Schuster
May 11, 2011

Todd Cook and sons, last year's winner of the myGameBalls.com Photo Scavenger Hunt, are wasting no time in racking up points in this year's contest. Just a month and a half into the season they've already recorded 52 points out of a possible 130, putting them in first place by over 40 points.

With camera in hand, Todd comes to the ballpark looking for opportunities to score points, and so far those opportunities have been plentiful. Here's a few of the highest-scoring photos that the Cook family has snapped so far:

Todd Cook

To earn four points, Tim had to pose with a Rangers player (Mark Lowe) while wearing Mariners gear.

- A self portrait of the Orioles' Josh Rupe \(6 points\)
- Tim appearing on the Jumbotron at Nationals Park \(8 points\)
- Tim with Mariners' owner Howard Lincoln
- Tim with Mariners' GM Jack Zduriencik \(8 points\)

In all, they've taken 13 photos that have earned Scavenger Hunt points. Following behind them in the standings are Mateo Fischer (10 points), Zac Weiss (8 points), Howie (3 points), and Matt Jackson (3 points).

Check out all the photos on the myGameBalls.com Scavenger Hunt page

Pat Burrell

Pat Burrell Breaking News Visit The Official Site Now!

www.CSNbavaria.com

AdChoices

Post a Comment

There are no comments yet

All fields are mandatory!

Name *

Email *

Message *

Select your rating:

1000 characters left

Powered by Citricle

© 2012 myGameBalls.com | Home | Contact | FAQ | About Us